“ Marcus was the VERY rare soul that touched every single person in his lifetime - by truly seeing the person for who they are....and accepting. Plain and simple. True love radiated from him. Even when he was in pain he still gave all he had. I will miss our sweet talks and think of him the rest of my life. I learned many lessons from Marcus and every time I heed something he taught me I think of him (and smile)! And many times even laugh! ;) I wish sweet comfort to his family - you know you had a special family member - but the world does too! xoxoxo Kathy NJ

“ Marcus and I go a long way back. I was about 7 years old when I first met him even though he was 10 years older than me I thought he was the handsomest man I ever met. Later when he joined the Army we went to Fort Dix to see him and I will never forget it. I found him again later when my first son was 8 months old and he is now 45 and he fell in love with him. We had a very good summer doing things together. We lost touch again and I found him about 6 years ago and was glad to have him back into my life. He will be missed a lot but I know I can always see him in my dreams and will carry him always in my heart.

“ For Bluefeather,

*His last words were...so long and thanks for all the fish
He knew when it was time, albeit filled with humor to the last
Our sage, our mentor, our guide in self awareness, and the beauty of humanity*

The universe shifted when he passed...a burst of joyous laughter Echoing across the plains, reaching trees, and endless roads towards the spirit realm

Truly I will miss him, the restful timbre of his voice, the conversations long into the evening, his wild, woolen, hair, his guidance, and endless hugs.

I can still sense the scent of sage, floating on ether, traced around the moon by turkey feathered fan and antlered pipe...sacred ceremonies felt through hands, feet, and hearts...at the junction of four winds

While walking, I felt a gust of wind push me gently in my back and caught a fleeting glimpse of wispy

Grey trailing from a convertible...love and light on wheels...an unmistakable song now blaring from the speakers...

(I can feel it coming in the air tonight...I've been waiting for this moment all my life)...his next journey under way

I imagine him dancing like kokopelli, with sun bear...crystalline bliss...

While I watch a blue feather float soundlessly to the earth... a distant bird now soaring on the thermals of God

For Bluefeather,

You have given us much more than fish...until we meet again...

“ When I was a child, Marcus helped shape my fledgling spirituality in a most powerful way. He exposed me to concepts that sparked my imagination and a reverence for learning. I had trouble sleeping, he made my mother a guided meditation cassette tape to play for me at bedtime. I will always remember his voice, calming my mind, body, and spirit each night for many many years. Marcus was a beacon of hope and tranquility in my young life. I will be forever grateful for his help and guidance. My thoughts and prayers are with him, Andrea, Steve, Morgan, Emma, David, and Ely. God bless.

“Marcus was truly one of the finest humans that i have Ever met. He was extremely generous with both his things And his time. He was totally honest, which is almost non existent anymore. He was understanding and very kind. If i had to pic one word to describe him it would have to be Love. Marcus loved people and he loved them unconditionally. He loved the animals and the earth too,treating them with the SAME respect as humans.

I was broken when i met Marcus and he helped me put my life back together. He helped my son Drew, also, when he was going through hard times. I didn't have any money to pay him. It didn't matter to him. And the thing that made Marcus even more unique he did that many times over, not just for me.

Wow, what a legacy he leaves behind he touched so many lives and touched them All with that beautiful spirit and unconditional love. We were very blessed to have him in our lives. A very special man !!!

He started out as my mentor and teacher 23years ago and over the years our relationship grew into a dear friendship. I will cherish the memories so many of which are some of the best of my life. From cutting word for the stove on almond rd to working together at organics i am so grateful for the opportunity to have had Marcus in my life.

Thank you, Blue Feather for your Love, and your friendship. Thank you for the lessons you taught us and mostly for being a example of how it's done.

*I will Love and Miss you always,
Peggy*

In one of our last conversations you said you were very proud of me. Well, i couldn't of done it without you. Have fun on your new journey.

“My sincere condolences to Andrea, Margie and Judy. As well as to all of Marcus's family.

Marcus to me, besides being a world class hugger, was much like a coat of many colors. All different shapes, sizes and textures. He was an interesting and amazing person. Not only with his knowledge of his culture which he shared with all so freely, but with his knowledge of the human spirit. He was so many things to so many people. In later years he was sage-like in his appearance and you could actually see his journey through life on his face. And it was a great journey. I'm certain his counseling will be sorely missed. But now a new and better journey begins. God Bless Marcus.

“Marcus is so full of knowledge, wisdom and love. He is one of the greatest men and teachers I have encountered and I am very blessed to have had him as a friend. He told me to celebrate his life and our time together and not to be saddened by his departure. As I'm sure many of those who knew Marcus know that his lessons are not always easily learned but are most relevant in our lives. Although I am saddened and by our loss and grieving I will celebrate his life and participate in the joy of his new adventure! It was truly my pleasure to have known you! Much love to you Marcus and to your amazing family!
