“ *Dearest Beau,
You were such a wonderful neighbor and I enjoyed talking to you over the fence and seeing your incredible art work. I cherish the beautiful egg you gave me with the Blessed Mother in it and the gourd that you painted for me one Christmas. You were an incredible artist and so talented at other things. I missed you and Harry both when we moved from Corrales. Mark and Debbie our deepest condolences on the loss of Beau.*

“ She took care of me during my preschool years. Beau was very strict, but SOMETIMES she would postpone my nap so I could watch "The Secret Storm." Through her, I developed a love of Hank Williams, Sr., Catholicism, and cathedrals. The last time I saw her, she remembered things that she had observed about me even though she noticed them 55 years ago. She had a penetrating way of looking straight into a person to see the truth, the beauty which is sometimes hidden. She captured the truth in nature. Nature doesn't lie. R.I.P. Beau. I will never forget you and all you did for me.

“ I remember the first time I met Aunt Beau. I was with Aunt Tib and Uncle Earl. Beau had her hair up in a French twist kind of style with an arrow holding it in place. It made me think she was a Native American. When she found out, she laughed until she cried. She will truly be missed by those who loved her. May she be happy again at Uncle Harry's side and may she rest in peace.
