“ Terry (as he was known professionally) was one of the rapidly shrinking number of veterans who was on active duty before World War II. He continued to serve our nation as a uniformed member and civilian employee of the Air Force for 45 years. When he finally retired, I was lucky to be his replacement and was privileged to become friends of him and Lydia during the years since then.

“ I remember Bob from when he and Lydia were first married. He always had a twinkle in his eye. One of the things that I remember most about him was his admiration and love for Lydia. He would say "Lydia is a real lady". I will miss him.

“ We felt Bob was truly a gentleman. Our visits with him were limited but we were so pleased to have him and Lydia visit our home along with visiting their home on Groton Long Point. And, of course, the special get-togethers in New England. Conversations were always interesting and very memorable. He will be missed.

“ I had the pleasure of knowing Bob for his entire married life in that my connection dates back to when I was a bridesmaid at his wedding to Lydia. Although miles limited the number of times we got together, Dick and I regarded each as memorable. Lydia, thanks for bringing such a fine person into the family.
